

Be Prepared and Audit Ready: You can trust Shai as your Artificial Intelligence (AI) solution to have all your data organized, 100% correct, and easily accessible to make the auditing process go smoothly.

shai

Gather any required data from any source in your organization, all without installing new software, tools, or systems.

Be able to have absolute confidence in the accuracy of your data with 100% compliancy and the ability to prove and show your work as needed.

Save countless hours of staff time by tasking Shai with organizing data and creating reports in advance of an audit.

A formal audit of your organization can be a dreaded event—it means a lot of time, effort, and exposure to the internal workings of your systems. If your information is not easily accessed or connected, it could require teams of people to implement temporary fixes just to comply with the auditing process itself.

However, with Shai in place you can plan for all the reports, metrics, and numbers you may need to provide well ahead of time. The best part is an AI can use the systems and tools you already have in place to obtain the required information. In this way, you do not need to worry about API connections or disparate data as Shai can do all the heavy lifting to pull together what is needed.

Specific auditing benefits of Shai can include:

- Gathering information using your existing systems and tools
- Crunching and preparing required data very quickly
- Having a verifiable 100% confidence level in your data
- Organizing different data sets from multiple sources
